ANNOUNCEMENTS

JUAREZ (MEXICO) AFTER THE BATTLE.

A picture of more than timely inperest is the one at the Breed today entitled Juarez, Mexico, After the Battle. This motion picture has the distinction of being the first one ever made of a besieged city directly after the battle. It shows the poorly clad insurrectos. armed to the teeth with guns and re-volvers captured from the federals the ruined postoffice—one-time home of Bonita Juarez: Red Lopez, the stirring insurrecto leader: the barri-caded streets, with destruction caused by insurrecto cannon, etc.

This is an historical subject that every man, woman and child should see, as besides the scenes where the actual fighting took place is seen the Mexican custom house, where Presidents Taft and Diaz met and dined.

A thrilling western play by the Essanay company, entitled The Hidden anay company, entitled The Hidden Mine, and a superb dramatic number, entitled The Thoroughbred, are other attractions, and Mr. Eugene Calking, the popular baritone of this city, wins the favor and applause of the patrons by his splendid singing of By the Old Mill Stream, and Pleading. In his former number, one of his many encores, the entire audience sang the song without him, a feature never noted in this city before.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR Ex-President Eliot, Socialist?

Mr. Editor: The announcement that Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emertius of the most aristocratic university in this country. Harvard, has become a socialist, will doubtless be a rather surprising bit of information to most of the readers of The Bulletin. And when it is recalled that not so very long ago, when he was president of Harvard. Dr. Eliot was a pronounced anti-socialist and proclaimed the scap the great American hero and was a prominent member of the Civic Federation, which was organized to war on socialism, the change in Dr. Eliot's mental attitude is quite remarkable. mental attitude is quite remarkable.

It may be only a coincidence, but it is of interest to note that ever since Dr. Eliot became ex-president of Har-vard, and he was assured of a most comfortable old age pension provided by wealthy Harvard alumni,his mental breadth and sympathies have gradually widened until at length he has conceded the gist of the socialist philoso-

A few months ago Dr. Eliot was in Milwaukee and although he was not a socialist he visited the city hall and more independent than the colonist before 1776. Monopoly and industrial kes are to be resisted today, said Dr. Ellot. There were eight sections in his new declaration of independence, plank six being the one in which he comes out flat-footed for the socialist programme. It reads as follows: "Land and all instruments of production and distribution of products should belong to society as a whole." If this is not socialism, what is it? The demand of the socialist party is "the social ownership of the means of production." To secure this demand over eighty thousand men and women in the United States are organized into a class-conscious body known as the so-cialist party, into which they are pay-ing monthly dues to keep up the work of agitation, education and organiza-tion until the goal is reached, and over 690,000 voters in 1910 cast their ballots for the socialist reasonable. for the socialist programme. The party invites Dr. Ellot and any other like-minded individual who in this year 1911 would like to become part of an organized body working incessantly for the realization of a new declaration of independence, based upon industrial independence based upon industrial conditions today, to fill out an appli-cation blank at once and become a member of the socialist party now for

It is only by the adoption of the sixth plank of Dr. Eliot's new declaration that the accomplishment of the other planks will be carried out. Only by the abolition of production for private profit and competition among produc-ers, which Dr. Eliot advocates in common with the socialists, will unem-ployment become eliminated, will the ployment become eliminated, will the right of every man to the normal pleasures and enjoyments of life and the leisure to enjoy them, be assured. Other provisions of this new declaration which Dr. Ellot supports, along with the socialists, are compensation to workers for losses due to acute sickness, injuries and old age, larger appropriations for public education, and the conservation of the national resources for the public welfare. The motive, method and mission of the socialist were beautifully expressed by James Russell Lowell when he wrote:

"The time is ripe and rotten-ripe for Then let it come; I have no dread of Is called for by the instinct of man-Nor think I that God's world will fall

About the Village.

Boston, July 25.—Orders have been received from the headquarters of the Adams Express company in New York by General Agent Johnson of this city. With headquarters in the South terminal, that on and after Aug. 1 there will be a radical change in the shipping system which promises a great reduction to shippers.

Heretofore the system of two charges prevailed when packages were transferred from one company to the other, two with the Adams company to a package is expressed at Province-than the Adams will, by reason of its connection with the American be able to bill the package right through to Boston, where the American will forward it to its destination without loss of time.

Providence, July 25 .- For some reason, even fishermen profess not to know just why, both swordfish and bluefish are much more plentiful this season than for several years past. And since the fish are frequenting neighboring waters in such large num-socialist he visited the city hall and publicly expressed great pleasure at the thoroughness and honesty of the socialist municipal administration.

Next, word came that S. A. Ellot, Jr., a grandson of President Eliot, is one of the hardest workers in the Socialist club at Harvard, which has a membership of fifty.

On July 4th Dr. Eliot spoke at the famous Fanculi hall, Boston, "the cradle of liberty," at which he most appropriately pictured a new declaration of independence suitable for the masses in the year 1911. He said that the average citizen is not really much more independent than the colonist before 1776. Monopoly and industrial

THE ADAMS EXPRESS. Radical Change in System Promises Better Terms to Shippers.

There are, however, compales in va rious parts of the country who are not associated with the big express com-panies and the old system will have to panies and the old system will have to prevail in such cases. Mr. Johnson would not state today how great a re-duction this innovation would bring, but intimated that if the plans worked out as they expected it would probably reach 15 per cent, and the shippers will get the benefit.

By falling stream, or mountain brook ascending.
It may be there awaits
My house wife open gates.
With voices and with sliences to yield
The thrill of welcome at the journey's ending.

To prevent accidents among women who insist on getting off cars facing backward mirrors are being put in the forward sides of the exits of all street cars in Greeley, Col. The women who are responsible for this scheme declare that the desire to see if their hats are on straight will cause their erring sisters to face the right way when leaving a car.

The approaching advent of the Java-Asiatic line into San Francisco has awakened interest among coast shipping of Hawaii. Flood Bros., San Francisco managers for the Java-Asiatic company, have announced quarterly steamings of large tramps from the former port and Puget Sound to Montevideo, Buenos Agres and Rosario. The first vessel to be dispatched in the new service will be the Strathberg, which will leave San Francisco about June 10.
